DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments, see page 6, par. 2, filed 8/9/2004, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 1-8 under 35 U.S.C. 102 (e) by Makino et al. ("Makino") USPN 6,570,554 have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of Takabayashi et al. ("Takabayashi") (JP 2000-111871).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Takabayashi.

Takabayashi discloses (see figs. 1 and 4 and page 4 of machine translated document) a field sequential liquid crystal display device, comprising: a liquid crystal panel 1 having an upper/a lower substrate (not shown) and a liquid crystal layer therebetween; a backlight device 2 under the liquid crystal panel for irradiating light to the liquid crystal panel and having three color light sources having one of colors Red, Green and Blue (as in claim 3); and an image signal processor 4/6 controlling a sequential lighting order and combination of the three color light sources, wherein said image processor said combination and lighting order in relation to a timing frame, and wherein said frame is divided into subframes.

As for claim 4, Takabayashi discloses (pages 4 and 5 of machine translated document) the image signal processor changes the lighting order and combination of the three color light sources depending on image characteristics displayed in the liquid crystal panel.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 2, 7 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Takabayashi in view of Uchida et al. ("Uchida") (EP 875 880).

Takabayashi discloses the device structure as recited in the claim, but does not disclose three color light sources being sequentially lit for up.

Uchida discloses (col. 1, lines 45-55) three color light sources being sequentially lit for up to about [fraction (1/180)] of a second during three subframes, and wherein one frame period is approximately [fraction (1/60)] of a second; wherein a lighting time of each of the light sources at each subframe is less than [fraction (1/180)] second (as in claim 8).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate Uchida's teachings with Takabayashi's device since that would since that would minimize flicker as taught by Uchida.

As for claim 2, Uchida discloses (abstract) each of the three color light sources has one of colors Cyan, Magenta and Yellow (full color display).

Art Unit: 2826

6. Claims 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Takabayashi in view of Makino.

Takabayashi discloses the device structure as recited in the claim, but does not disclose Optical Compensated Birefringent.

Makino discloses (col. 2, lines 45-55) liquid crystal layer being Optical Compensated Birefringent (antiferroelectric liquid crystal) mode or Ferroelectric Liquid Crystal (FLC) mode (as in claim 6).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate Makino's teachings with Takabayashi's device since that would since that would provide a wide viewing angle as taught by Makino.

Conclusion

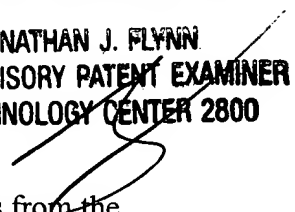

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
